

Neligh Public Library Privacy Policy

Users of the Neligh Public Library have certain rights to privacy with regard to their use of library facilities and services. Patron records are confidential. These records include but are not limited to: use of library materials, facilities, programs or services.

- In the case of patron failure to return materials, the library may disclose circulation information and correspondence to appropriate legal authorities involved in securing the return of or the payment for the materials in question.
- Records that identify patrons without respect to their use of library resources, materials or services are NOT protected under the law. Information about the identity of persons whose behavior in or about the library violates the law or library policies is not inherently protected or confidential.
- The library will NOT disclose to parents or guardians any records of use by children except with the permission of the child. Possession of a family library card or the child's library card number by a parent or guardian is construed to imply permission.
- If law enforcement officials believe that a criminal or terrorist act has been committed on library property or with library resources, the library will cooperate with law enforcement authorities who have obtained proper court orders for access to library records as designated in those orders.
