The Foreword

To build a memorial for alumni, students, and faculty, which is a collection of the year at Scotia Schools, which will remind us in years to come of days spent together, and which will be a bond ever increasing our loyalty to our alma mater.

DEDICATION

We dedicate this 1938 Scotia Tiger to Mr. S. T. Grohosky, who so faithfully served our school for twenty years as a member of the Board of Education. We wish to express our appreciation to him and all other pioneers who have labored so industriously for the welfare of our school and community.

Senior Class Play

"THE PHANTOM TIGER"

The Senior Class presented "The Phantom Tiger," a three-act comedy-mystery at 8:00 o'clock, May 4, in the school auditorium. This play was a sequel to the 1937 "Tiger House."

The cast of characters included: Erma Lowrie, Dolores M. Horner; Peggy Van Ess, Betty Jean Warren; Evelyn Hale, Norene Hiatt; Mrs. Murdock, Mary Buelah Nielsen; The Tiger's Mistress, LaVerna Kay Kepple; Aunt Sophia, Mabel Hermsmeyer; Oswald Kerins, Lavern Shadle; Arthur Hale, Leonard Burton; Sheriff Osgood, LeRoy Vanosdall; MacIntosh, Leonard J. Tuma; Thompson, Marius Hansen; and Rumba, Ernest E. Workman. The play was directed by Merrill Penney, who was assisted by H. C. Ebmeier.

The numbers presented between acts were by George Phillip's orchestra, and the German band.

The play was presented to a capacity crowd. Everyone seemed to be well pleased with the production.

Class Gift

Forty dollars of the proceeds of the class play went to purchase a silent 16 mm. motion picture projector which was used by the Visual Aids Department for the presentation of weekly educational pictures.

Class History

In the year of '26, thirty-eight little boys and girls began their school career. Of those that started only LaVera Biskeborn, Maxine Burton, Norene Hiatt, Lavern Shadle, Alwyn Stude, Ronald Toogood, George Urich, Bernice J. West, and Josephine Hosch are with us now. In the lower grades, students joined and left us but the nine remained, gaining in the so-called wisdom (or conceit?).

In the seventh grade our number was enlarged by Marius Hansen, Dean W. Bredthauer, and LaVerna Kay Kepple. This year we had many fierce and lingering feuds.

When we reached the eighth grade we considered ourselves educated. LeRoy Vanosdall became one of our number. At the promotion exercises, we squared our shoulders and looked forward to our high school days.

During our high school years we played and quarreled (and worked a little), finally reaching our goal. During these four years we were joined by Nellie L. Craft, Dolores M. Horner, Mary Buelah Nielsen, Ernest E. Workman, Leonard Burton, Floyd W. Thompson, Betty Jean Warren, Leonard J. Tuma, B. Faye Cargill, Evangeline Hermsmeyer, Fern D. Schoemaker, Russel Johnson, Lornie M. H. Winter, Mabel Hermsmeyer, Luella G. McDonald, Loretta M. Gillham, Roland Kenneth Dulitz, Richard Karre, and Leonard Urich; thus making our class the largest graduating class to leave the Scotia schools.

We have enjoyed working together with the faculty, giving class plays, banquet, etc. Many happy memories of our school days linger as we stand at the parting of the ways.

Class Poem

Seniors, we deserve that word; we wear it as a crown.
 Passers-by behold its sheen as we pass through the town.
 Years of work rewarded us, and gave us this fair name.
 Upon our brow it glows and burns, an even gleaming flame.
 Our class just numbers 32; we vary in breadth and height,
 From our very slender Miss Bernice to Dolores, the Sonja type.
 Josephine is our journalist, Fern, our teacher we hear,
 LaVera and Mac, our stenographers (if a certain Bill doesn't interfere.)
 We're sure Ernie will be famous some day; LeRoy looks for success too.
 And there's Nellie with those gleaming locks of a decidedly reddish hue.
 Luella says she's going to teach! We wonder what kind of a school.
 Richard is blonde and bashful; Leonard Tuma demands perfect rule.
 Ronald Toogood has the imagination, but his grades—Oh My! !
 Betty talks faster than she thinks, but I guess it will get her by.
 Russel is quiet and sincere; Mary's disposition is of the best known.
 If you should feel the earth tremble, remember Lavern and his Sousaphone.
 Dean Bredthauer is our football captain; Evangeline has the pep.
 And with Leonard Burton in that line, we know we'll get there yet!
 We find that Mabel is bashful, Ah, would that Roland were too,
 But he flirts with all the girls and I wonder about Floyd, don't you?
 Leonard Urich brings the "Leonards" to three, Georgie is the squirt.
 And the way Marius Hansen drives, someone will surely get hurt.
 Loretta is our Greeley "Gal," Norene has a smile for all.
 The senior class play shows that "Kay" is a mystery after all.
 Alwyn Stude is slow but sure, and he works with never a fuss,
 Mr. Penney's blush, so easily aroused, has often made him cuss.
 And this, our class of '38 will soon be on its way,
 But we'll always remember with a pleasant smile, many a high school day.

Senior Class Day

About 3:30 a. m. on March 25, the Seniors started for Omaha to spend their annual holiday (after a few short delays). An early breakfast was eaten at the cafes in St. Paul, before the sleepy-eyed group continued the journey.

After a pleasant trip, three carloads met at the postoffice. Where was the fourth carload?

After futilely waiting for the truants (who spent the day dodging cars with 62 licenses), the Seniors visited many places of interest such as: the Omaha World-Herald, the Armour Packing Company, the Omaha Municipal Airport, the Joslyn Memorial, the Woodman of the World Building, the Father Flanagan's Boys' Town, the Union Stockyards, etc.

In the afternoon the class separated, each person doing as he pleased. Some students crossed the river to Council Bluffs, others spent the time window shopping, etc.

Meeting at the Conant Hotel at five o'clock, the group attended the show, "In Old Chicago," at the Orpheum, which was educational as well as entertaining.

After the few customary squabbles about who was to ride where, the group started homeward. A surprising thing happened—the Hansen car, that had been missing all day, became separated from the others on the way home! Some thought it was because Dolores was along, others blamed the car. The Seniors are still wondering.

Everyone arrived home safely, but sleepy and weary, at an early hour in the morning.

A few days later, after regaining consciousness, the Seniors agreed that a good time was had by all.

Senior-Junior Breakfast

On the morning of May 13, the Senior class entertained the Juniors and Faculty at a 6:00 o'clock breakfast at Megrue's cabin.

The menu consisted of oranges, weiners, buns, coffee, eggs, rolls, and bananas, which tasted good at that early hour.

The laughter of the students was a trifle forced as they were united, perhaps for the last time, on the closing day of school.

Annual Picnic

The sixth annual picnic of the Scotia Schools was held on May 13. Events began at noon with a basket dinner in the gymnasium. Food and fun were plentiful.

In the afternoon, the fathers battled the sons in kittenball, while the mothers and daughters cheered, then vice-versa. Track events for the younger folk provided much hilarity.

The weather was favorable and the day was enjoyed by everyone. Approximately 600 were in attendance.

Junior-Senior Banquet

The annual Junior-Senior banquet was held at the school house at 6:30 P. M., May 5.

The ceiling and sides of the home economics room were beautifully decorated with balloons and red and white streamers, the Senior class colors. Banners bearing profiles of each Senior were hung on the walls. A lovely banquet of American Beauty roses, the Senior class flower, served as the centerpiece for the tables.

As the theme of the banquet was a carnival, little tents were used as individual nut cups. Balloons tied to each chair added to the attractiveness of the carnival motif.

A three-course menu was served, consisting of red lemonade, scalloped potatoes, tomato slices, Swedish ham loaf, rosy apple compote salad, radish roses, Parker House rolls, butter, strawberry jam, beet pickles, ice cream, cookies and coffee.

The dinner was prepared by the mothers of the Juniors and served by eight Sophomores.

Marvin Jensen acted as master of ceremonies, giving the welcome, "A Circus of a Time." Leonard Tuma, Senior class president, responded with "A Game of Chance." Other toasts were, "The Shooting Gallery," Bernice J. West; and "Fortune Telling," by Mr. Ebmeier.

Entertainment was furnished by the "Carnival Band," Clarinet Trio, and the radio.

ACTIVITIES

The class had two major parties, one each semester. The first was a treasure hunt which terminated with a hamburger fry by the river.

The second party was a backward party held at the school house. Each Sophomore brought a guest. The evening was spent playing enjoyable games. Refreshments were served, consisting of ice cream and cake.

Eight lettermen reported for the 1937 football eleven. Dean W. Bredthauer, a tackle, was captain of the team. Leonard J. Tuma, a halfback, was co-captain.

The boys got off with a slow start but made a strong finish by whipping North Loup 20-0 in the annual traditional Turkey-Day tussle.

Although this year's Tiger record was not up to par, the team was never badly beaten. The boys fought gamely and when losing lost only by small margins. They were out-downed by only two teams.

Eight regulars were lost by graduation. Prospects are fair for next year with seven lettermen returning.

Basketball

Basketball in the Scotia schools for the past year did not fare so well. The boys had a fine attitude and worked hard for victory. We are all proud of the sportsmanship exhibited by them and the spirit in which they played. Lewis Farrell was the only letterman on the team. Prospects are somewhat brighter for another year.

The second team, all Freshmen but one, had tough opponents, but turned in a good record—seven wins and nine defeats. The team advanced to the semi-finals of the Cedar Valley tournament.

The Girls' Athletic Association is a member of the Nebraska High School Activities Association.

Every year each girl has the honor of earning a letter by keeping her points of organized activities and training rules. She must also wear hygienic shoes, and have a health and teeth examination each school year.

The fall activities of the year included outdoor baseball, soccer, cornerkick, relays of various types, and gymnastics. The mid-winter activities were basket and volley ball, and also other games of low organization. The spring activities were tap, outdoor baseball, track, and tennis.

The Girls' Athletic Association attended three play days during the year, one at Taylor, one at Ord, and one at Burwell.

Other events of the year were the basketball tournament, in which the Country and Junior girls were victorious; and a volley ball party, which the Girls' Athletic Association sponsored for the faculty members.

The Junior physical education class is composed of girls from the seventh, eighth and ninth grades.

There are thirty-one members. Each girl has a great deal of enthusiasm, which makes all of their classes interesting.

The curriculum of the Junior physical education class is similar to that of the Senior Girls' Athletic Association. Their fall activities were relays, tap, outdoor baseball, and cornerkick. Their mid-winter activities were nine-court basketball, volley ball, and games of low organization. The spring activities were tap, folk dancing, and outdoor baseball.

The Junior physical education class' most popular event of the year was a winner-loser hop-skotch tournament.

Cadets

Through the efforts of Miss Estelle Bredthauer, the Pep Club sponsor, a regiment of cadets was organized last fall. This regiment was composed of 24 girls during football season and cut to 16 girls during the basketball season. The cadets' marching attire was white shirts, black slacks, and orange or black caps.

At each game the girls had a new march worked out and always formed the initial letter of the visiting team and the letter "S" for their own school.

During basketball season all the lights in the gymnasium were turned out while each girl carried a flash light on her shoulder with orange cellophane over the lens. The effect was entrancing and the crowd enjoyed it immensely.

The Pep Club included anyone in high school who was interested enough to take part. Representatives of the club attended each football and basketball game, loyally cheering for victory. Rallies and skits were held in the assembly before games to keep the spirits high.

At the close of the season a successful fun night was sponsored by the club. The proceeds were used to pay for transportation to the various games.

Band

Instrumental music was added to our complete vocal program only recently. Rapid strides have been made and today we boast of a thirty-piece senior band and a sixteen-piece junior band. Our band has entered competition several times and has received very creditable ratings. This year the band rated excellent at the district contest held at Fullerton, April 1 and 2.

Uniforms were purchased in 1936 through the efforts of the classes of '35, '36, and the music department. Additional uniforms were added in 1938 by the Scotia woman's club.

The band has been handicapped by lack of instrumentation. The music department added a Sousaphone this year. We hope to continue this progress by adding more instruments every year.

The band is an active organization, giving a benefit program, playing for athletic activities, and closing the year with the annual spring concert.

Music Activities

The music program in the Scotia schools touches the lives of practically all students. Music of both instrumental and vocal variety is offered throughout the school. Ninety-five percent of the students in the school are enrolled in music classes. The lower grade students have the opportunity to take lessons on the Saxette, and the upper grade students have the opportunity to take lessons on any instrument. Many avail themselves of this opportunity.

The high school vocal and instrumental groups attended the Loup Valley Music Festival at Loup City, March 17; the Cedar Valley Music Festival held at Cedar Rapids, March 17; and the District Music Contest held at Fullerton, April 1-2. The groups made a splendid showing.

Vocational Agriculture Curriculum

JOHN G. DAVIS—INSTRUCTOR

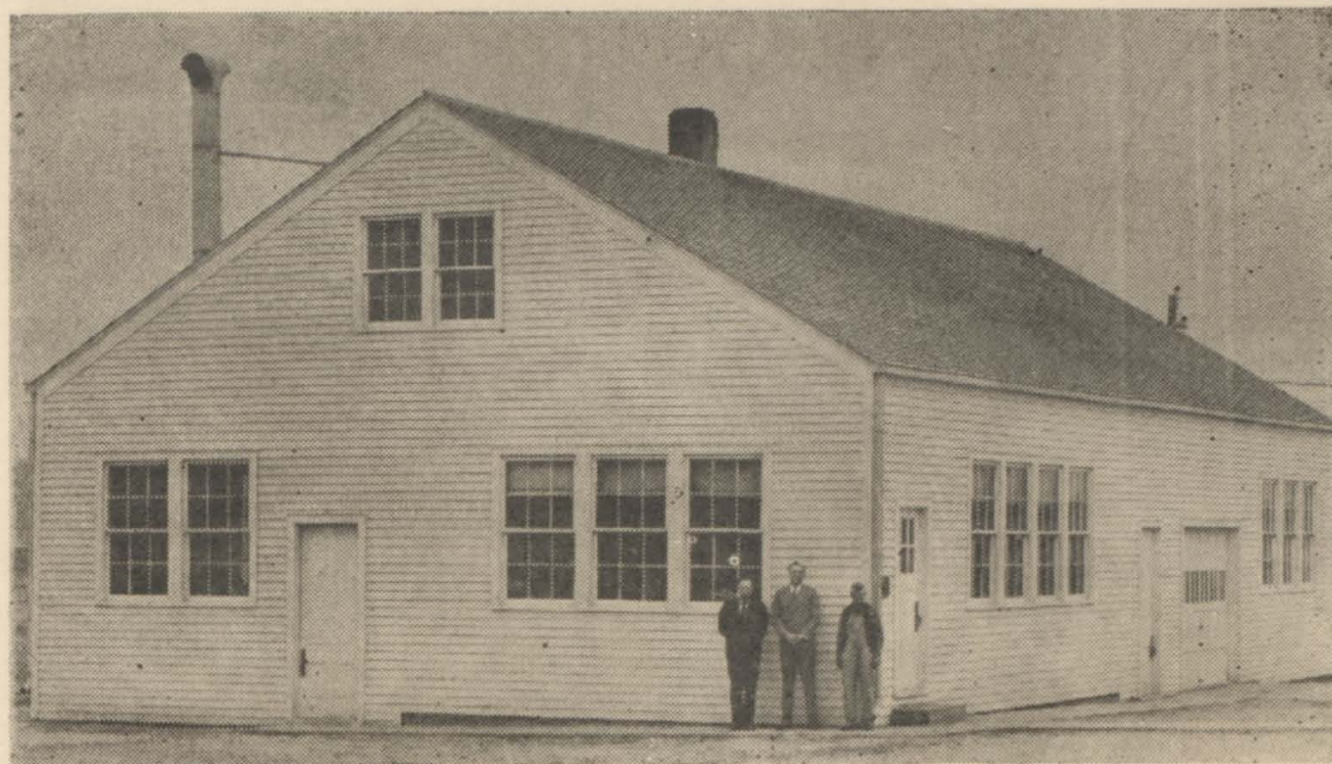

Animal husbandry comprises a study of the feeding and the care of all breeds of farm animals and poultry.

Farm crops and soils consists of a study of the cultural methods of crops grown in the middle west, in their relationship to the soil, weeds, insects, diseases, and rainfall.

Farm management is a study of farming in its relation to important present day problems and practices confronting the farmer.

Farm shop is a three-year course including a study of rope work, soldering, leather work, blue prints, figuring bills of lumber, wood work, tools, forge, machinery, concrete work, and rural electrification. Each boy carries one or more projects during the year which puts into practice class room instruction.

Vocational agriculture is a popular course in the Scotia schools. Fifty boys are enrolled which makes our department one of the largest in the state.

Vocational Agriculture Building

The above agriculture building was constructed in 1937 by the school district and the Works Progress Administration at a small cost to the district. Most of the material in it was salvaged from the old school house that stood on the north hill. Very little new material was used.

The building houses the complete agriculture department which includes a class room, a wood working room, a forge room, and a paint room; up-to-date in every respect.

ACTIVITIES

The normal trainers had three parties. The first at the home of June Mitchell was a "kid" party with each future teacher dressed and acting as a child.

The professional trainers visited several rural schools on February 7. A waffle supper at the home of Bernice West was enjoyed after the group returned.

The final "get-to-gether" of the class was held the evening of April 25, when members hiked to the cabin for a picnic supper.

The week beginning April 4 was practice-teaching week for the professional trainers. Despite snow storms and other discouragements the trainers were undaunted and still determined to be teachers.

CURRICULUM

The normal training course consists of two classes in reviews, one class in professional training and other related subjects including normal training music, American history, advanced civics, sociology, agriculture and geography of Nebraska, etc.

College Preparatory Course

The College Preparatory Course prepares the pupils primarily for college entrance. Academic majors and minors are offered in English, mathematics, language, social sciences, and sciences.

Scotia credits are accepted for full value by the various colleges and universities. A complete college preparatory curriculum is offered. Many students avail themselves of this course each year.

Commercial Course

The Commercial Course offers pupils those fundamentals that will help them decide whether or not they wish to choose commercial work as a life vocation. It also helps many secure positions in the business world. A complete course is offered which consists of typewriting, shorthand, English, mathematics, bookkeeping, business training, office practice, etc. The Commercial curriculum is very popular with the students.

General Course

Everyone is urged to choose and continue with one definite course. However, provisions are made for a general course, made up of the various subjects offered. It has few requirements other than the regular 32 credits required for graduation.
