Senior Class Play

The senior class presented "Early To Bed—Early To Rise," a three act comedy, at 8:00 o'clock, May 5, in the school auditorium.

The cast of characters were as follows: Abbie Fuller, Mildred Layher; Bobby Fuller, Clinton Everett; Marion Fuller, Alice Hermsmeyer; Everett Fuller, Everett Day; Spanky Minute, Laura-Jean Nelson; Jim Griggs, Donald Lehn; Patsy Fuller, Gertrude Horner; Daisy Fairfax, June Mitchell; Otto Kerschmeier, Elton Jess; Mr. Conkle, Roland Moody; Laura Montgomery, Donita Selk. The play was directed by Kathleen Hassler.

Between acts the audience was entertained by a clarinet solo, "Memories," by Donald Lehn, and a girls' sextette singing, "Early To Bed—Early To Rise."

A good-sized crowd attended the play and everyone seemed to enjoy it immensely.

Class History

The year of '27 thirty-two little boys and girls climbed the steps for their first year of school. Of those that started only Esther Daily, Clinton Everett, Alice Hermsmeyer, Elton Jess, June Mitchell, Mildred Layher, and Donita Selk are with us now.

Many students joined and left us, but the above mentioned still remained striving toward the goal.

When we reached the eighth grade we considered ourselves as intelligent as our upper classmen. We were fortunate enough to have a promotion exercise, as it was discontinued the next year. Donald Lehn, Dale Mitchell, Cecelia Kearns, Laura-Jean Nelson and Lewis Farrell joined our group. We all looked forward to being in high school although we were to be green freshmen.

After four enjoyable years in high school we considered ourselves intelligent enough to graduate (although more knowledge could easily be used.) During these four years we were joined by Gertrude Horner, Dean Nehler, Roland Moody, Harold Jeffres, Ethel Mae Johnson, Bette June Jensen, Lyle McDonald, DeLores Leth, Nawdean Day, and Everett Day, making our class the brightest and (?) class to leave the Scotia school.

We have enjoyed working with class members and faculty in presenting our various class functions. We sincerely wish for one another a most happy and prosperous future.

Senior Class Day

For most of the seniors, sneak day began Thursday night, February 16. The girls stayed with Bette June Jensen and June Mitchell, and the boys with Marvin Jensen and the rest in town.

After the girls fixed their nails, hair, etc., and the boys "fixed" the nose-sophomores, the maximum amount of sleep must have been all of two or three hours.

Girls are always accused of being slow but this time they had to wait for the boys at Jensen's before going on to town. After picking up the rest in town the class started for Omaha.

Arriving in Omaha about 9:30 in the morning, a group of seniors obtained the itinerary for the day from the Omaha Chamber of Commerce. The following places were visited: Omaha World-Herald Building, Swift Packing Plant, WOW radio station, and Joslyn Memorial.

In the afternoon everyone did as he wished and then met at the Henshaw Hotel at 5:00.

Leaving Omaha about 6:00, the seniors ate in Fremont and later in the evening attended a show. They were fortunate enough to see "You Can't Take It With You" at a Fremont theatre.

Everyone arrived home in the wee small hours Saturday morning, tired but happy.

Senior-Junior Breakfast

The juniors and the faculty of the Scotia school were guests of the seniors at the annual junior-senior breakfast at six o'clock May 12.

The group went to Kriewald's where everyone worked up an appetite for the bananas, oranges, weiners, buns, and boiled eggs after chasing around.

Everyone enjoyed himself, although regretfully, since this was probably the last time they all would be together.

Senior Class and Honor Night

As a final performance of their years in high school, the seniors presented the typical "school days" scene in the high school auditorium Tuesday, May 9. Judging from the antics of some of the scholars (?) it would not be amiss if they were to continue their education in kindergarten rather than the cold world.

The class will was read by DeLores Leth and the class prophecy was read by Ethel Mae Johnson. Laura-Jean Nelson presented the key to Lucille Sintek.

Following the program, honors were distributed to students who were superior in their activities during the year.

Annual Picnic

The seventh annual picnic of the Scotia school was held on May 12. It began at noon with a picnic dinner in the gymnasium.

Entertainment in the afternoon was provided by the fathers and sons and mothers and daughters playing kittenball. Races and other sports were enjoyed by the younger people.

Activities

On Hallowe'en night Margaret Murphy was hostess to the junior class at a masquerade party. After Melvin Hermsmeyer, masqueraded as a woman, had completed his necking, everybody went home.

A second party was enjoyed when the juniors invited the sophomores and seniors to accompany them to Dannebrog to roller-skate.

Junior-Senior Banquet

On the evening of May 4 the seniors were entertained at the S. H. S. Ranch for the annual junior-senior banquet.

The room was decorated to resemble a ranch house. In the front was a silhouette of the painting "End of the Trail." Over this silhouette hung a moon. The room was lighted by lanterns.

The table decorations carried out the cowboy theme. The nut cups were made to resemble feed mangers and were filled with candy corn. A clever drawing of a cowboy was on each menu and program.

Marvin Harris, toastmaster, started off the program by giving "Welcome Pard." The answer to this was "Howdy," by Laura-Jean Nelson. "The Round Up," by Betty Langenberg, "The Branding Iron," by Melvin Hermsmeyer, "Mavericks," by Elton Jess, "Pay Day," by Bette June Jensen, and "Facing the Horizon," by Lucille Sintek, followed.

Musical numbers by a girls' trio, a boys' trio, and a mouthharp solo by Lyle McDonald were presented between toasts.

Mr. Ebmeier topped the program with "Git Along Little Doggies."

Seven lettermen reported for the 1938 football team. Dale Mitchell was elected honorary captain at the close of the season.

The Tigers had a good season being defeated by only two teams. The successful record made by Scotia was due to fine team work and good spirit. The Tigers were Cedar Valley champions.

Lewis Farrell, Dale Mitchell, and Nicholas Murphy received all-state honorary awards. Farrell, Mitchell, Nehler, Jeffres, and Day will be lost due to graduation.

The outlook is fair for next year's team with 15 lettermen returning.

Track

C. Hansen, E. Sintek, E. Day, D. Mitchell, D. Lehn, G. Hosch, Merrill Penney—Coach.

The track boys turned in a fine record before hanging up their spikes for the end of the season, and forever, for some of them.

The boys won one track meet, were runners up in two others, and placed fourth in the Loup Valley Conference. This proved to be an excellent record.

The track team is losing five seniors this year. They will be missed greatly.

Baseball

This is the first year that the Scotia Tigers entered the baseball world as a school team. Therefore, the team did not fare so well.

The team lost both of their two games and the reason for this was that the boys waited an inning too long to tighten up, giving the other teams the lead. In both games, after the first inning, our nine played the best.

There was a very good turnout for baseball. A better turnout and record is expected next year.

Basketball

H. C. Ebmeier—Manager, L. Hansen, W. Cook, D. Johnson, E. Sintek, B. Warren, W. Beck, E. Portis, H. Farrell, Merrill Penney—Coach, L. Roe, M. Harris, G. Hosch, E. Day, L. Farrell, D. Mitchell, C. Hansen, H. Beck.

The basketball team in the Scotia school was much stronger than in past years. The boys a fine attitude, exhibiting good sportsmanship at all times. Four lettermen will be lost due to graduation with four regulars returning for next year. Some from the second team will move up to take the place of those lost. Prospects are much better for the coming year.

The second team, composed mostly of freshmen and sophomores, had a successful season—five wins and eight defeats. This is very good for they played teams that had more experience than our players. Many times they appeared out-classed in all ways but spirit.

The Girls' Athletic Association is a member of the Nebraska High School Activities Association.

Each girl has the opportunity to earn a letter by keeping her points of organized activities and training rules. She must wear hygienic shoes, and have a health and teeth examination each school year.

The fall activities included kittenball, soccer and tennis. The winter activities included basketball, volley ball, dancing, and corner kick ball. The spring activities included kittenball, tennis and soccer.

At the close of the basketball season the G. A. A. members sponsored a class tournament. In the finals the juniors played the seniors, and the seniors were victorious.

Scotia girls held a play day here this year and attended two others at Ord and Burwell.

The second year of the cadets did more to establish them as a permanent part of the pep club. Miss Estelle Bredthauer, the pep club sponsor, coached them as she did in the previous year.

The girls wear uniforms of black trousers with orange stripes, white shirts, and orange or black caps.

The cadets proved themselves indispensable at the football games where in addition to loyally supporting the team they marched between halves.

During the basketball season the girls marched between halves in the darkened auditorium. The only lights were the flash lights they carried over their shoulders, the lens of which was covered with orange cellophane. The effects obtained by the girls caused many complimentary comments from the spectators.

Pep Club

President	Marvin Jensen
Vice-president	June Mitchell
Treasurer	Clinton Everett
Secretary	Mildred Layher
Cheer Leaders	Alice Hermsmeyer, Mildred Layher

Every student in high school was a member of the pep club this year. They had a large representation at every football and basketball game.

The pep club sponsored all skits and rallies given in the assembly. Each class and department submitted a skit before the weekly game.

A new idea was introduced in the pep club this year, that of selecting a "Grid Queen." She was chosen by the football boys and was selected for her qualities as a pepster, supporter, and regular attender of the games. This year's "Grid Queen" was Laura-Jean Nelson. Her two attendants were Doris Mae West and Mildred Layher.

Music Activity

L. J. Nelson, D. Lehn, W. Warren, M. L. Mihane

With the introduction of junior high school chorus and glee clubs, the music department inaugurated a program of expansion and development, which is hoped might influence the lives of all students in the Scotia school.

The robing of the 55-voice chorus brought both the instrumental and vocal department up to par with that of many of the larger schools throughout the state. 95% of the students in the school are enrolled in music classes. Pupils of the fifth and sixth grades have access to the use of the saxette, which reveals if they have any music talent.

The high school vocal and instrumental groups participated in the Loup Valley Music Festival at Ord, April 6 and the District Music Contest held at Fullerton April 21-22. In spite of the illness prevalent at contest time, the group came through with flying colors.

The band; girls' sextette; boys' glee; girls' glee; Laura-Jean Nelson, high voice; Donald Lehn, clarinet; William Warren, low voice, and Mary Lee Mihane, piano, won superior ratings at Fullerton.

Junior Chorus

The junior chorus presented an operatic romance, "Bobby," March 17, 1939. Janice Nelson and Howard Sautter had the leads as Bobby and Anne.

Bobby, a typical farm lad, wanted to make good in the city, and went there against his father's wishes. After several years of absence and much success, Bobby returns home for a visit. Preceding him is a troupe of choristers from his latest Broadway hit, who, under the supervision of Ed and Gloria, set up a miniature stage in the Malone farm yard and prepare to entertain all the country-side.

All goes well until the sheriff enters with a telegram to hold Bobby. The mystery is cleared by the appearance of Mr. Velazco, who announces Bobby the winner of a $50,000 prize.

Davis—Instructor, G. Bonsall, G. Gillham, T. Sautter, M. Leth, H. Farrell, D. Everett, K. Klein, L. Sintek, N. Beck, D. Hansen, C. Hiatt.

Vocational agriculture as presented in the freshman year comprises a study of animal husbandry and farm shop I. In the second and third year work, farm crops and soils and farm management are taught on alternate years. Farm shop II and III are also taught as part of the second and third year work. Each boy is enrolled in one or more projects during the year which puts in actual practice the recommended class room practices.

Vocational agriculture judging teams participated in the district contest at Kearney and the state contest at Lincoln. Members of the judging teams were: FARM SHOP—Clarence Hansen, Glenn Roe, and Lyle Sintek; LIVESTOCK AND DAIRY—Howard Steger, Arlin Harris, and Henry Dulitz; FARM CROPS IDENTIFICATION—John Henry Sautter, Duane Hansen, and Joyce Grantham; FARM CROPS AND SOILS MANAGEMENT—John Henry Sautter and Duane Hansen.

Commercial Course

M. Jensen, A. Schoemaker, G. Vanosdall, J. Mitchell, M. Layher, N. Day, Doris L. Nelson—Instructor, L. J. Nelson, B. J. Jensen, E. Daily, D. Selk, A. Hermsmeyer, E. Jeffres, L. Sintek.

The commercial course endeavors to give our students a background for further study in that course, or to help them decide whether they wish to take the course in future life. A complete course offered includes shorthand, typewriting, English, mathematics, bookkeeping, business training, and office practice. Many students enroll in this course because they feel that it is necessary to their future training.

College Preparatory

The college preparatory course is for the purpose of better preparing a student for college entrance. English, mathematics, language, social science, and sciences are given in this course.

A complete college preparatory course is offered in the Scotia school and credits are accepted in most college or universities. Quite a number of students enroll in this course each year.

Normal Training

B. Groetzinger, D. Lehn, M. Hermsmeyer, B. Langenberg, J. Mitchell, D. Tolen, L. Sautter, Estelle Bredthauer—Instructor, P. Johnson, D. Leth, B. Jensen, D. Biskeborn, C. Kearns, E. Johnson, E. Meyer, L. Denoyer.

Secretary-Treasurer	Bette June Jensen
Vice-president	Betty Langenberg
President	Ethel Mae Johnson
Instructor	Estelle Bredthauer

DeLores Leth was hostess to a Christmas dinner at her home just before Christmas vacation. After the dinner the students exchanged gifts. The evening was spent playing games.

The professional training class experienced the annual practice teaching week from March 6-10. They learned of many new teacher's difficulties but they still like the teaching profession.

The normal training course is for the purpose of preparing students for a teaching profession. It consists of a class in reviews and a class in professional training. Other required courses are public school music, American history, advanced civics, sociology, agriculture, and geography of Nebraska.

General Course

Almost all the students in school choose a course and continue with it through high school. For those who do not wish to do so we provide a general course. Such a course is made up of all subjects offered in high school. Students in this course are required to have 32 credits for graduation as they do in any other course.

Home Economics

E. Layher, L. Beck, M. Vanosdall, D. Brown, M. Daily, B. Kriewald, I. Holt, J. Walkowiak, H. Johnson, J. Halpin, L. Bennett, G. Gowen, F. Rich, D. Thorngate, B. Holt, T. Burton, J. Nelson, Gladys Schlichtman—Instructor, D. Gebhardt, W. Burns, D. West, O. Brown, M. Mihane, M. Tucker, D. Jeffres, E. Smith, L. Payton.

The home economics department functions for the purpose of bettering the homes of future years. The girls of the home economics department study the preparation of foods, dressmaking, child development, and science.

The members are taught to budget time and money, and to be conservative.

Some of the activities of the home economics department are: breakfasts, dinners, several teas, and a style show, all of which are presented to the mothers of the members of the department. These demonstrations were held for the purpose of showing the mothers what their daughters had learned and the progress they had made.

Home economics in our school is one of the most important advantages presented to the students because almost every girl plans to have a home at some time in her life.

My Diary

September:

The third day of school and still everybody is present. Dopes!
Pop Corn Days— $\frac{1}{2}$ day vacation. Getting a little cold for budding romances.

Foreign correspondences have been purchased again for this year. "Buy American First" I always say.

October:

"Red" Leth and LeRoy Hansen displayed before study hall for definitely "unclever class room antics."

Today is the first anniversary of six senior gals playing hooky.

November:

Miss Hassler—sea baths, moustache, and Rio de Janeiro.

Pep Club breaks their buns over each others' heads.

Scotia beats Greeley. Fighting Irish (?).

December:

Junior Everett raided school pantry. All he could find was navy beans.

Twenty more shopping days until Xmas.

L. J. Nelson can fill an experimental flask with the stopper in 'ut.

January:

Three sparklers are being flashed around school.

Lorene Denoyer walks across the study hall at the amazing speed of a snail.

February:

Marvin Jensen's gal friend from India thinks he's a she. The one in Greeley doesn't.

John Shadle isn't in love—he's asleep.

Gretchen Horner fell for physics—chair and all—all over the floor.

June Mitchell rammed her head through a windshield.

Tch! Tch! The seniors cast aside the advice of their elders and "snuck" anyway. It would serve them right to be caught in a snow storm.

March:

L. J. Nelson tries a new handshake on a total stranger. We don't know who was more embarrassed.

Lewis Farrell is now a full fledged butcher.

Esther Daily escorted little Simon home. Fine stuff!

Donald Lehn forgot his hand mirror—tragedy!

April:

One-act play cast definitely does not like "Georgie Porgie."

Eveline Smith changes her mind too often. Evidently she's torn between two lads.

LeRoy Hansen has an awful time getting his brother to go to bed early.

Donald Johnson always manages to be seated as close as possible to Beckie Kriewald.

May:

There's just no fooling Melvin Hermsmeyer. He has his mind made up, Mr. Ebmeier.

Marvin Jensen selling mouse traps. Special for Mother's Day.

Everybody donned cow bells for the "rodeo" banquet. Yippee! Somebody forgot to take them off before school the next morning.

Dean Nehler discovers the "Willow Cafe."
