G. DISASTER PLAN

The first response in an emergency is to ensure the safety of the patrons and staff of the library, however as a service organization, patrons expect the library to be open during favorable and unfavorable conditions. Procedures and precautions should be taken for the following circumstances.

1. Snow Storms: Taking into account travel conditions, loss of utilities and other safety factors, it is at the discretion of the library director whether to open or close the library during a blizzard or potential blizzard. If the library director is unavailable, the staff person on duty shall have the authority to make the decision.
2. Severe Storms: The library staff alerts patrons of storm and tornado warnings. Staff will escort patrons to the basement when severe weather alert sirens sound or radio alerts warn of an approaching storm. In the event a patron is unable to get to the basement, they should be taken to a safe location within the library until the emergency passes.
3. Fire: Do not panic, but do not underestimate the potential danger. Clear the building of patrons. Immediately call 911. Determine the location and extent of the fire. If the fire can obviously be contained and extinguished quickly and safely by staff, proceed to do so. All staff should be familiar with the location of fire extinguishers and how to use them. Library staff will participate in an annual fire drill. Personnel should familiarize themselves with the type, location, and application of the fire extinguishers in the building.
4. Health Emergency: Common sense should prevail. Library staff members should exercise caution when administering first aid of even a minor nature because of the safety of the injured individual and the potential liability of the staff member. It is not advisable for staff to undertake more than keeping the sick or injured patron comfortable and protected from needless disturbance until medical help can be obtained. Since each case is unique, staff members should use their own judgment to do what is prudent and reasonable. The ambulance/police will be called immediately in the event of a serious problem. No medication, including aspirin, should ever be given to the public.

5. Water Emergency: In the event of a water emergency (flood due to sprinkler malfunction, pipe break, toilet overflow), call the city and/or utility companies to have water and gas shut off.
6. Bomb Threats: Keep the caller on the line as long as possible. Ask the caller to repeat the message and try to write down every word spoken by the person. If possible, quietly ask another staff member or patron to call 911 from another line and clear the building in a calm manner.

If the caller doesn't indicate the location of the bomb or the time of possible detonation, ASK FOR THIS INFORMATION. Pay particular attention to background noises such as motors running, background music and any other sounds, which may indicate the location from which the call is originating. Pay particular attention to the voice (male, female), voice quality (calm, excited), accents and speech impediments.

Immediately after the caller hangs up, call 911 and clear the building, if this has not yet been done, and wait for the authorities outside the building.

H. BEHAVIOR POLICY

All library users, visitors, volunteers and staff will be respectful of library property, inside and outside, and will respect and not be disruptive to other library users. Users must be responsible for verifying the accuracy of any material they choose to use. The Tilden Public Library assumes no responsibility and shall have no liability for any direct, indirect or consequential damages arising from the use of information found on the Internet, or any communications sent through the library's Internet terminals. The library does not monitor an individual's use of the Internet; nor does the library currently employ filtering software; however measures have been taken to block harmful and inappropriate information, specifically visual depictions of material deemed obscene or pornographic.

Downloading executable software or programs will not be allowed, however, users may bring in discs, flash drives or storage cards to work from. V. MATERIALS SELECTION / COLLECTION DEVELOPMENT POLICY

A. OBJECTIVES

The purpose of the Library is to provide all individuals in the community with carefully selected books and other materials in various formats to aid the individual in the pursuit of education, information, research, pleasure, and the creative use of leisure time.

Because of the volume of publishing, as well as the limitations of budget and space, the library must have a selection policy with which to meet community interests and needs.

The materials selection/collection development policy is used by the library staff in the selection of materials and also serves to acquaint the general public with the principles of selection.

The Library Bill of Rights and The Freedom to Read Statement have been endorsed by the Library Board and are integral parts of this policy.

The materials selection/collection development policy, like all other policies, will be reviewed and/or revised as the need arises.

B. RESPONSIBILITY FOR SELECTION

The ultimate responsibility for selection of library materials rests with the library director who operates within the framework of the policies determined by the library board. This responsibility may be shared with other members of the library staff; however, because the director must be available to answer to the library board and the general public for actual selections made, the director has the authority to reject or select any item contrary to the recommendations of the staff.

C. CRITERIA FOR SELECTION

1. The main points considered in the selection of materials are:

- a. individual merit of each item
- b. popular appeal/demand
- c. suitability of material for the clientele
- d. existing library holdings
- e. budget
- f. format
- g. reviews

2. Reviews are a major source of information about new materials. The primary source(s) of reviews are:

- a. The Library Journal
- b. Ingram and/or library's book vendors
- c. Best Seller lists
- d. Guide to Reference Books
- e. Publisher's and jobbers catalogs
- f. Patron requests

- g. Newspapers, radio, TV, or other media publicity
- h. Internet sources
- i. Standard lists

The lack of a review or an unfavorable review shall not be the sole reason for rejecting a title which is in demand. Consideration is, therefore, given to requests from library patrons and books discussed on public media. Materials are judged on the basis of the work as a whole, not on a part taken out of context.

3. Controversial Formats

The Library attempts to present high quality works on all sides of any controversy, current or historical. It believes that books are vehicles of thought and that their censorship represents a violation of freedom of thought which is an implied part of freedom of speech.

- a. Religion: Materials will be selected which represent equally the fundamental concepts and beliefs of various religions. Also selected will be materials on comparative religions, Biblical interpretations, church history, religious education and all types of inspirational literature. Individuals with greater needs for in-depth materials will be served through Interlibrary Loan.
- b. Politics and Campaign Literature: The library recognizes a particular responsibility to provide material representing all points of view concerning political issues. The library does not purchase or accept for dissemination slanted campaign literature for a particular candidate's background and platform.

D. INTERLIBRARY LOAN

Because of limited budget and space, the library cannot provide all materials that are requested. Therefore, interlibrary loan is used to obtain from other libraries those materials that are beyond the scope of this library's collection. In return for utilizing interlibrary loan to satisfy the needs of our patrons, the Library agrees to lend its materials to other libraries through the same interlibrary loan network, and to make an effort to have its current holdings listed in a tool that is accessible by other libraries throughout the state.

E. MATERIAL GIFTS

- 1. The library welcomes and appreciates gifts and donations.
- 2. Gifts such as art objects, portraits, antiques or other permanent displays will be evaluated by the library director and library board as to their appropriateness for the library
- 3. The library accepts gifts of books and other materials with the understanding that they will be only be added to the collection if appropriate and needed. If they are not needed because of duplication, condition, or dated information the director can place them in the used book section with proceeds going to the Tilden Library Foundation to benefit the library. The director may also dispose of them as he/she sees fit. The same criteria of selection which are applied to materials purchased are applied to gifts. Memorial gifts of books or money are also accepted with suitable bookplates placed in the book. By law, the library is not allowed to appraise the value of donated materials, though it can provide an acknowledgment of receipt of the items if requested by the donor

F. WEEDING

An up-to-date, attractive and useful collection is maintained through a continual withdrawal and replacement process. Replacement of worn volumes is dependent upon current demand, usefulness, more recent acquisitions, and availability of newer editions. Every attempt will be made to fulfill the State Accreditation guideline to weed 3% of the collection each year. This ongoing process of weeding is the responsibility of the library director, authorized by the library board and carried out by the library staff. Withdrawn materials will be handled in a similar manner and under the same authority as donated materials.

G. MATERIAL CHALLENGES OR CONCERNS

1. The Library recognizes that some materials are controversial and that any given item may offend some patrons. Selection of materials will not be made on the basis of anticipated approval or disapproval, but solely on the basis of the principles stated in this policy.
2. Responsibility for the reading of children rests with their parents or legal guardians. Selection of library materials will not be inhibited by the possibility that materials may come into the possession of children. The librarian's role as reader advisor is to know and interpret materials on request, not to monitor selections.
3. Collections are provided for children; however the staff will not restrict the use of adult library materials according to the patron's age, with the exception of age appropriate movies where the library will follow the Parental Guidance Suggested ratings and practices.
4. Library materials will not be marked or identified to show approval or disapproval of their contents, and no library material will be sequestered except to protect it from damage or theft.

H. CHALLENGED MATERIALS PROCEDURE

The library is a unique institution charged with being an unbiased repository of recorded expression. Although materials are carefully selected, differences of opinion regarding suitable materials may arise. While the library board has delegated the responsibility for selection and evaluation of library materials to the director and such staff as he/she may designate, they have the legal responsibility for the collection and its protection under the First Amendment of the Bill of Rights of the United States Constitution.

1. Customers with complaints or requests that material be withdrawn or restricted within the collection should initiate the following procedures:

- a. Complete a Citizen's Request for Reconsideration of Library Materials form which can be found at the circulation desk.
- b. Return the completed form to the director for review and gather background information necessary
- c. The director will bring the matter to the attention of the board, along with her/his recommendation.
- d. The board will review the matter at a regular scheduled or emergency meeting, depending on the time frame involved, and vote with as little delay as possible.
- e. The board and/or director will issue a formal response in writing to the complainant and the appropriate action taken if deemed necessary.
