

Kilgore Memorial Library
Director's Report
Prepared for the November 20, 2014
York City Council

1. The library staff celebrated Carol Gruber's 30th anniversary of employment with the City of York on October 15th.
2. The pre-Veteran's Day event hosted by the Friends of the Library with author Tom Hutson was held Monday, November 10th. There were 10 participants in attendance, including Mr. Hutson's travel companion from Nigeria.
3. Rachel Mayfield is currently enrolled in a Basic Skills online course on Authority Control.
4. Libby Munsell attended a one-day NLC hosted workshop at Kilgore Memorial Library on Staying Connected with Broadband.
5. Just for fun we have a guess how many pieces of candy corn are in the jar contest for the two weeks before Thanksgiving. A winner will be drawn from the entries with the correct number. The winner will win the jar of candy and their choice of a book from our collection of donations for this purpose.
6. Deb Robertson continues to attend the Southeast Library System's Conversations with Small Town Librarians (CASTL) meetings across the system's region. It is always informative to learn from others in the region and to see the libraries of other communities. York will be the host of this meeting in December.
7. Judy Andrews attended the Summer Reading Workshop put on by the Southeastern Library System on November 7th. Information for two new presenters was presented. One program is a science-themed show and the other is an animal-creature based program. I will be working on our programs and calendar in January.
8. Preschool story time continues to be popular with about 35 attendees. This year most of the children are younger and they are enjoying their first library visits.
9. Read and Rec is going well with seventeen currently signed up. Most of the children are checking out two books every week. This session is short, we have only three days because of the Veteran's Day holiday.
