

Tokarczuk's won the Nobel Prize for Literature and the International Man Booker. In this literary mystery novel set in the Polish hinterlands, we find Janina doing battle with the culture of her village as that village struggles to solve several murders.

In a futuristic society where white man has lost the ability to dream, Indigenous people are hunted for their bone marrow. This young adult dystopian novel is imaginative. Unfortunately, it lacks an ending....

A young girl and her brothers are trying to reach a nearby town in Alaska before the winter weather makes such an escape impossible. This survival tale deals with grief, alcoholism, and isolation.

When the scruffiest giant in town becomes the spiffiest giant in town, only his clothes change. His kindness and generosity; however, become well known.